Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
HAVANA, June 18.—Thirty-four Moderate members of the House of Representatives, presided over by the Vice-President of the House, met to-day and approved the elections in the way desired by the Moderate party. Subsequently the Vice-President visited President Palma and told him what had been done. The Moderates explain that forty-two members, or twothirds, only are needed to constitute the House for purposes of legislation, but for the purpose of passing upon members' credentials only half the members are necessary for a quorum. The action of to-day would have been taken before, but the President of the House, Señor Latorre, who is a Liberal, refused to call a meeting. Senor Latorre sent word this morning that he was going to attend the funeral of Senator Fernandez Rondan of Santiago, who died suddenly yesterday, and the Vice-President took advantage of the opportunity to call a meeting. The credentials were rushed through in fifteen minutes, when the session closed to allow the members to attend the funeral of Sena-

The Liberals appear to have been taken completely by surprise. Senor Latorre denies prior knowledge of the meeting. He has ordered that no notification of the session be sent to the Senate, the Finance Department or the President.

The Liberals oppose the session as illegal. They hold that the action of the Moderates was due to their desire to save themselves in view of the attitude of the veterans, who are organizing to demand that the House meet and legislate in regard to the payment of the army. The attitude of the veterans is clearly in favor of the solution proposed by the Liberals; hence the desire of the Moderates to forestall their opponents.

Starts for the Continent Under the Name of Newcomb.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 13.-John Alexander Dowie who arrived in London on Saturday and had difficulty in finding a place to sleep because hotel proprietors feared that he might be mobbed, left here for the Continent this afternoon under the alias of Newcomb.

Some of the newspapers have been publishing letters from persons who are about to cross the ocean, protesting against having to sail, as they feared they might do, on the same ship with Elijah III. The newspapers were wondering if any of the transatlantic lines would accept Dowie as a passenger, even at the $10 rate.

BOULOGNE, June 13 .- Dowie has arrived here. It is stated that he is awaiting the sailing of the next steamer for the United States.

retain control of the State organizations? Late to-night the Hearst and Harrison men became convinced that Chairman Hopkins does not intend to give them a roll call on the selection of a temporary chairman, and made \ plan to obtain their rights. A mass me ag of delegates attached to the anti-Ho as element was held this evening and a resolution was adopted asking the State committee to grant the roll call.

While a bolt is not threatened openly, the Hearst and the Harrison leaders are determined to checkmate Chairman Hopkins's plans to sidetrack them, and the opinion is freely expressed that the national convention will uphold their case.

The platform will declare in favor of a service law for State employees; revision of the corporation laws of this State, to prevent the issuing of watered stock or stock dividends; a law or amendment to stock dividends; a law or amendment to the Constitution making every State official ineligible for the same or any other office during the term for which he was elected, and a law giving cities the authority to regulate charges for gas, street cars, telephones and other public utilities.

AGAINST HEARST IN MINNESOTA. He Gets Only 330 County Delegates-400 Oppose Him and 350 Uninstructed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 13.—Returns from the State indicate that the Democratic county conventions on Saturday elected delegates as follows: anti-Hearst, 400; for Hearst, 330; uninstructed, 350.

As Hearst's fight was to secure an instructed delegation from each county it is conceded that a majority of the delegates are against him and that the State convention, which meets at Duluth on June 22, will turn down the New York Congressnan by nearly two-thirds majority.

Prohibition State Convention.

Oswego, N. Y., June 13 .- Over 500 delegates have arrived for the Prohibition State convention, which will be held in this city on Wednesday. To-morrow the Pro-hibition Congress convention for this dis-trict will be held and Prof. Charles G. Richtrict will be held and Prof. Charles G. Richards, principal of the Oswego High School, will be nominated for Congress. A mass meeting will be held at the Richardson Theatre and State Excise Commissioner P. W. INDIANA LEANS TO M'CLELLAN.

SENTIMENT IS GROWING THAT PARKER ISN'T AVAILABLE.

Hoosier Democrats Believe That Bryan Shouldn't Be Entirely Ignored by Nominating a Candidate to Whom He Is Hostile-No Compromise on Platform

INDIANAPOLIS, June 13.-Democratic leaders in Indiana have decided that it would be poor policy to run roughshod over Bryan at St. Louis. They understand that the Nebraska platform represents the demands that Mr. Bryan will make upon the national party, and they now know that he will be present to enforce these demands with a personality that has proved potent in other conventions.

The conclusion has been reached that Further than this Mr. Payne refused to talk. Later in the day he visited the Coliseum with Senator Scott, Gov. Murphy and Speaker Cannon, who expressed their delight with the plans and admired the work of the decorators.

A meeting of the executive committee may be held to-morrow afternoon to prepare a report for the general committee meeting of Wednesday.

All the members of the national committee will have arrived in Chicago by to-morrow night or Wednesday morning and on Wednesday at 2 o'clock Chairman Payne will call the body in a large room walled apart from the general offices on the second floor of the Coliseum annex. The committee, it is expected, will deliberate over contests until the end of the week.

Fifty-two seats are involved, and there tion has been made that, as Mr. Bryan

Bryan, would insure the latter's opposition, it would be wise, in order to insure Bryan's support, to make concessions to him in the selection of a candidate.

Air. Taggart has fought against this conclusion and the fact that his interests and those of Judge Parker have come to be identical is the only reason that there is hesitation in any quarter about the matter. Mr. Taggart is a candidate for the chairmanship of the national Democratic committee, and he has based his hopes of success on Parker's nomination. Here is committee, and he has based his hopes of success on Parker's nomination. Here is the rub with the Indiana delegates, all of whom, with the exception of the two Hearst delegates from the Twelfth Congress dis-trict, are warm friends of Taggart. But, notwithstanding this identity of interest between Parker and Taggart, the feeling is between Parker and Taggart, the results is growing that there must be a compromise.

The delegates to the St. Louis convention see trouble ahead if Bryan is completely overridden, and out of the thirty men who will represent this State twenty-five have reached a point at which the suggestion of compromise is pleasing to them. It is TOPEKA, Kan., June 13.—The Kansas delegation to the National Republican convention will support Congressman Hitt of Illinois for Vice-President. It was first decided to vote solidly for Speaker Cannon, but that has been abandoned. Four years ago the Kansas delegation at Philadelphia helped Senator Platt of New York to nominate Roosevelt for second place to shelve him. One of the delegates to-day said they hoped to do better this time.

ILLINOIS CONVENTION TO-DAY.

The Hearst Fight Is to Begin With the Cheice of Temporary Chairman.

Seringfield, June 13.—Two questions are agitating the minds of the Democratic leaders who are here to attend the State convention, which will begin tomorrow noon in the State Arsenal. They are:

Will Illinois instruct its fifty-four delegates to St. Louis to vote for W. R. Hearst for President?

Will John P. Hopkins and his friends will be discord in the Indiana delegation of the Indiana delegation were trying to get possession of the party and "so help me God they shall not do it." and each of them applauded the sentiment.

This fact has been pointed to as an evidence that when these men get to St. Louis and come under Bryan's influence, there will be discord in the Indiana delegation if an attempt is made to put the party on a platform to which Bryan is opposed and then stand upon it a man whom he has openly antagonized both in his paper and on the rostrum. While the delegates to the national convention are thus uncertain as to the cours that will be pursued, the undercurrent of sentiment in favor of Mayor George B. McClellan of New York is becoming per-ceptibly stronger. Now and then some ceptibly stronger. Now and then some prominent Democrat speaks out for him, and at the mention of the name of New York's executive there is a general acquiescence in the sentiment that he would make an acceptable candidate to both wings of the party. It is not only believed that Bryan would not oppose him, but it is confidently asserted that his nomination would dently asserted that his nomination would dently asserted that his nomination would go far toward overcoming the disappointment that Bryan would feel if the platform is not of his making.

The friends of Mayor McClellan have contented themselves with laying the situation candidly before the delegates, and they have met but few of the thirty who do not feel that McClellan's nomination would be a happy solution of the situation which has arisen from the indorsement which has arisen from the indorsement of Parker in the face of Bryan's opposition.

BEVERIDGE, SECOND SPEAKER, Roosevelt at Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS. June 13.-Senator Beveridge has received official notice that he is to make the first speech in the Republican national convention seconding the nomination of Roosevelt. The Senator's friends look on this assignment as a distinct compliment to him.

Heretofore it has been the custom to call the roll of States for seconding speeches By this plan some of the best speakers were not heard until toward the end of the roll call and after the convention had become weary. The President determined to make a change this year, and at his suggestion the committee on arrangements decided that the chief seconding speech should be made by the junior Senator from Indiana. He will follow ex-Gov. Black of New York, who will place the candidate in nomina-tion. There will be at least four other seconding speeches, but each will be brief.

DR. STEIN'S VANISHED $1,200. His Arrest on a Charge of Perjury Seque to His Story of Robbery.

Dr. Adolph Stein of 65 Central Park West was arrested at midnight last night by Sergt. Farrell of the Jefferson Market police court squad, on a warrant issued by Magistrate Crane, charging him with perjury. Dr. Adolph Stein, who is a dentist, is said to be the same person as Abe Stein of 357 Houston street, who claimed that he was robbed of $1,200 a month ago by four alleged wire tappers. The four men, Robert Johnson, John Carey, Albert Rose and Timothy Bailey, were arrested by Detectives McGuire and Galligan of the West Thirtieth street police station and held in $3,000 bail for trial. The alleged robbery took place in a pool-room in Thirty-eighth street and the defence claimed that Stein lost his $1,200 betting in the ordinary fashion. They produced what purported to be his betting slips, and a handwriting expert to prove their point. These same defendants and their lawyer, Emil Fuchs of 200 Broadway, have now discovered two men who are willing to testify that Stein was not robbed of his money. hat Stein was not robbed that Stein was not robbed of his indiey by force as he asserted, but that they saw him lose it betting on the races. They are John McNierny of Brown place, borough of the Bronx, a clerk, and John Murphy of the Metropolitan Hotel, at Broadway and Twenty-seventh street, a salesman. They say that Stein won $660 by betting $600 on say that Stein won $660 by betting $600 on Sweet Dream at odds of 11 to 10, and subsequently lost $1,200 on Knowledge.

Dr. Adolph Stein has been playing in hard luck all around lately. A few weeks ago he put some gold fillings in a woman patient's teeth, and she did not pay him. The doctor, she said, locked her in his room, but she escaped, and an exciting chase down Central Park West was the result.

BOGUS STRADIVARIUS VIOLINS Scattered and Sold All Over the Country by an Itinerant Fiddler.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 13. - Bogus Stradivarius violins are turning up all over this country. Some time ago Abram Maxon, a baker in this city, discovered that an old violin owned by him had a time-worn label inside, on which was printed "Antonius Stradivarius, Cremonensis Faciebat, Anno 1779." Inquiries were made at Ditson's in New York and the information came back that the instrument was not genuine. A man of the name of Snyder in this city and Marcus van Deusen of Accord also have violins with the Stradivarius label in Edward Winter, a music dealer of this city, says that in the past twenty years he has had a score of these instruments offered him by parties who thought they had discovered a prize. He declares that they are all bogus. The ownership of the instrument owned by Mr. Maxon of this city can be traced back for forty years. The violin is now at his sister's, Mrs. Budd Shurter, in Wilmington, Del.

It is alleged that these instruments were scattered and sold all over the country by one Jack Abrahams, an itinerant fiddler, whose tramping ground was along the Delaware and Hudson canal from Kingston, N. Y., up into the coal regions of Pennsylvania. It is believed that the alleged Stradivarius recently discovered by Col. E. S. Hendrick of Tunkhannock, Pa., is one of the fiddles sold by Abrahams, as Tunkhannock was in the field of his wanderings. If it is one of the Abrahams fiddles its real of the Abrahams fiddles its real value is about $3.

$360 GONE, WOMAN RAN OUT. Captain Stewart Held His Second Guest While Nelson Got a Policeman.

An elderly woman dressed like a Westerner ran up to Policeman Murray last night at Broadway and Twenty-fourth street and asked him to come quick to an apartment down the block Murray accompanied him to a house on Twenty-fourth street, opposite the rear entrance of the Eden Musee. There were noises coming from the second floor The elderly man explained that his friend, Capt. Stewart of the Swedish Army, was holding a woman for the police who was the companion of one who had robbed him of $360 in the rooms. Murray went upstairs and found Stewart struggling with a young woman, who was giving him a hard fight.

At the station house the woman said she was Jessie Barrett, 26 years old, of 274 West 116th street. The man who lost the money told the sergeant that he was Victor Nelson told the sergeant that he was victor reason of San Francisco, stopping at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He said he and his friend, Stewart, were standing in front of the hotel early in the evening when they were accested by the Barrett woman and a companion. After some parley, the woman accepted an invitation to step around to Stewart's rooms in Twenty-fourth street, to have some rooms in Twenty-fourth street, to have some Swedish punch.

While he was talking to one of the women,
Nelson says he felt a hand inside his vest and suddenly thought of his wallet, which contained $360, part of a $400 check that he had had cashed at the hotel. He felt he had had cashed at the hotel. He leter for it and found it was missing. Meanwhile the woman had darted out the door. Nelson followed her and left Capt. Stewart to corral her companion. He lost track of the woman in the street.

Nelson told the police that he had been a United Stetes Consul in Norway for five United States Consul in Norway for years and showed a badge of the San Francisco S. P. C. A. Detectives started out with Nelson to look for the woman. Liquor Tax Receipts, $16,644,856. Cricket.

The ten teams competing for the chamcionship of the New York Cricket Association are having a spirited contest for the pennant of that organization. Three teams are tied in the lead, and it is probable that some close matches will be played before they are separated. Essex County, Thistles and West Indians have all a clean record of victories so far, but as the Thistles will meet Essex County next Saturday one of them must lose its position.
